III Traditional Karate European Children's Cup

Peterborough 2013

- Traditional Karate is the art of self defence which originates from Japanese bu-do (the art of war). The original, Japanese karate, today known as Traditional Karate, never differentiated styles.
- Karate is invaluable heritage passed on to the next generations across centuries. This precious knowledge makes it possible for us to discover the way to excelling our selves through physical, mental and spiritual training. We are therefore responsible for keeping it safe and pass on the ideas behind bu-do to the future generations.
